

LESSON III – The Women Have Their Say

Let's practice! Supply the missing vowels for the following forms. Be sure to mark them long or short as necessary.

|---------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1. reg _____ s: you rule        | 6. incip _____ m: I shall begin       |
| 2. fug _____ bam: I was fleeing | 7. col _____ nt: they dwell           |
| 3. cēd _____ mus: we will yield | 8. aud _____ sne: will you listen?    |
| 4. sc _____ tis: you know       | 9. ven _____ ntne: are they coming?   |
| 5. vīv _____ bat: she lived     | 10. dīc _____ bās: you kept on saying |

Let's continue by eliminating one verb from each of the five sets below.

11. Three of the following verbs belong to the third conjugation, but not emet                      geret                      sedet                      tendet
12. Three of the following verbs are in the future tense, but not aberam                      crēdam                      sentiam                      tribuam
13. Three of the following verbs are plural, but not expeditis                      facitis                      intermittis                      legitis
14. Three of the following verbs are thirds -iō's, but not cupimus                      fugimus                      rapimus                      trahimus
15. Three of the following verbs are in the present tense, but not defendunt                      iungunt                      respondent                      scrībent

Make the following verbs plural, and then translate those plural forms.

16. addūcō _____
17. dēspicit _____
18. cōgēbās _____
19. pellit _____
20. inveniam _____

Create and translate the following five forms.

21. the second person singular present active indicative of claudō

22. the third person singular imperfect active indicative of nōscō

---

23. the first person singular future active indicative of mūniō

---

24. the second person plural future active indicative of frangō

---

25. the third person plural imperfect active indicative of iaciō

---

Let's practice! Translate the following sentences, paying special attention to the use of the infinitive in each.

1. Summum bonum petere dēbēmus.

---

2. Estne iūstum malōs interficere?

---

3. Multī neque legere neque scribere possunt.

4. Difficile est omnia bene facere.

---

5. Nostrae mala sustinere sciunt.

---

Notā Bene: In each of the preceding sentences, one or more adjectives took the place of a noun. If this seemed confusing, be sure to discuss it with your teacher.

Now use the ablative of means to translate the following five sentences into Latin.

1. You (singular) are strengthening our friendship with your kindness.

2. We will make the journey on foot.

---

3. They are buying the land with a large sum of money.

4. I will transport the timber by cart.

---

5. He taught with excellent examples.

---
